

Supporting Greek businesses to enhance extroversion and innovation has been a strategic priority for Eurobank, which has launched a full spectrum of extroversion initiatives since 2009.

With the awarded Exportgate international trade portal, we offer Greek and Cypriot businesses networking opportunities in the global market and help them find buyers for their products across the globe. We give them access to advanced tools and special information resources so they may boost their business operations.

International business comes with significant challenges and Exportgate aims to support businesses in their journey. Its library, one of the largest international trade electronic libraries, includes access to trade information and export/import procedures for over 130 countries. In addition, through the Exportgate International Trade e-Library, businesses have access to one of the largest content sets on international business, with dynamic country-specific information about macroeconomic matters, statistics, market trends and consumer behaviour. Exporters and importers can use tools to estimate the volume and the value of product-specific imports and exports to and from the country of their interest, find specific sources for business operations like Global Tenders lists and info on international counterparts.

Exportgate is a member of the Trade Club Alliance (TCA) network, following the strategic agreement between Eurobank and Santander, a leading bank in retail and corporate banking registered in Spain. In partnership with international banks, businesses can expand their network with potential associates from around the globe.

Exportgate, which is available to all companies and with the participation of over 5,300 Greek companies, covers all the dynamic export sectors of the country.
